Research Papers

M.S. Silverman and R.B.H. Tootell (U.S.A.)
Modified technique for cytochrome oxidase histochemistry: increased staining intensity and compatibility with 2-deoxyglucose autoradiography (NSM 00643) 1

E. Badoer, G.A. Head, J.A. Aberdeen and P.I. Korner (Australia)
Localization of the main noradrenergic neuron groups in the pons and medulla of the rabbit and the importance of cathodal lesions for prolonged survival (NSM 00649) 11

M.T. Stechison and J.A. Saint-Cyr (Canada)
A transcervical surgical approach to the ventral medulla of the cat (NSM 00648) 29

T.E. Milner and J.A. Hoffer (Canada)
Long-term peripheral nerve and muscle recordings from normal and dystrophic mice (NSM 00644) 37

B. Mulloney and W.M. Hall (U.S.A.)
The PD programs: a method for the quantitative description of motor patterns (NSM 00641) 47

E. Soto and R. Vega (Mexico)
A Turbo Pascal program for on line spike data acquisition and analysis using a standard serial port (NSM 00646) 61

N.T. Carnevale and F.J. Lebeda (U.S.A.)
Numerical analysis of electrotonus in multicompartmental neuron models (NSM 00647) 69

R. Kammerer, W. Bauer and H.W. Honegger (F.R.G.)
On-line analysis of rapid motion with a microcomputer (NSM 00653) 89

C. Graff (France)
Recording electrophysiological signals from small moving animals: electrode fixation and low torque swivel for recording a weakly electric fish in a group (NSM 00642) 95

J.V. Cassella and M. Davis (U.S.A.)
A technique to restrain awake rats for recording single-unit activity with glass micropipettes and conventional microdrives (NSM 00651) 105

H.J. Kasper, B.J.M. Hess and N. Dieringer (Switzerland)
A precise and inexpensive magnetic field search coil system for measuring eye and head movements in small laboratory animals (NSM 00656) 115

S.H. Chung, L.C. Jones, B.J. Hammond, M.C. King, R.J. Evans, C. Knott, M.J. Keating and M. Anson (U.K.)
Signal processing technique to extract neuronal activity from noise (NSM 00652) 125

D.S.K. Magnuson, R. Johnson, M.J. Peet, K. Curry and H. McLennan (Canada)
A novel spinal cord slice preparation from the rat (NSM 00655) 141

K. Schmid and G. Böhmer (F.R.G.)
A device for spike train sampling with built-in memory (NSM 00654) 147

C.N. Scholfield (U.K.)
A miniaturised roller pump (NSM 00650) 157

Purification of adrenal chromaffin cells on Renografin gradients (NSM 00645) 163

V. Kapoor and J.P. Chalmers (Australia)
A simple, sensitive method for the determination of extracellular catecholamines in the rat hypothalamus using in vivo dialysis (NSM 00658) 173

T.G. Beach, H. Tago, T. Nagai, H. Kimura, P.L. McGeer and E.G. McGeer (Canada and Japan)
Perfusion-fixation of the human brain for immunohistochemistry: comparison with immersion-fixation (NSM 00661) 183

F.J. Clark and R.C. Burgess (U.S.A.)
Systems for producing precise movements of a joint over a wide range of speeds and displacements for tests of a static-position sense (NSM 00659) 193
C.N. Scholfield and M. Murdock (U.K.)
Pulse-modulated light source for psychometric and vision experiments (NSM 00660) 203
J.W. Harding and D. Felix (Switzerland)
Quantification of angiotensin iontophoresis (NSM 00664) 209
J.M. Kerns, I.M. Pavkovic, A.J. Fakhouri, K.L. Wickersham and J.A. Freeman (U.S.A.)
An experimental implant for applying a DC electrical field to peripheral nerve (NSM 00668) 217
I.D. Forsythe and B. Walmsley (Australia)
Intracellular recording of identified dorsal spinocerebellar tract neurones from guinea pig spinal cord in vitro (NSM 00667) 225
K. Schmid and G. Böhmer (F.R.G.)
A stepper motor-driven microelectrode positioner (NSM 00665) 235
J.-P. Renauld and J.R. Laviolette (Canada)
Micropipette holders: vented types are preferable to closed types (NSM 00663) 243
J.-P. Renauld and J.R. Laviolette (Canada)
The silver–silver chloride electrode: a possible generator of offset voltages and currents (NSM 00669) 249
J.M. Kerns, A.J. Fakhouri and I.M. Pavkovic (U.S.A.)
A twitch tension method to assess motor nerve function in rat (NSM 00657) 259
D.A. Gordon, T.M. Hamm, R.M. Enoka, R.M. Reinking, U. Windhorst and D.G. Stuart (U.S.A.)
Measurement of axonal conduction velocity in single mammalian motor axons (NSM 00666) 267
A.W. Clark, S. Bandyopadhyay and B.R. DasGupta (U.S.A.)
The plantar nerves–lumbrical muscles: a useful nerve–muscle preparation for assaying the effects of botulinum neurotoxin (NSM 00670) 285
A.R. Aitken (Australia)
The preparation and use of embryonic brain wholemounts (NSM 00671) 297
D.W. Ellison, M.F. Beal and J.B. Martin (U.S.A.)
Amino acid neurotransmitters in postmortem human brain analyzed by high performance liquid chromatography with electrochemical detection (NSM 00662) 305
W.F. White (U.S.A.)
A washing apparatus for microcentrifugation assays (NSM 00672) 317
W.F. Tivol, W.F. Agnew, R.B. Alvarez and T.G.H. Yuen (U.S.A.)
Characterization of electrode dissolution products on the high-voltage electron microscope (NSM 00674) 323
R.S. Crockett and E.E. Quinton (U.S.A.)
Distribution of incorporated [^{3}H]uridine in mouse brain as a function of route of administration (NSM 00675) 339
